

Highlights

- Measurement-only benchmark for embedded battery state estimation.
- Direct, hybrid, and data-driven estimators are compared under one protocol.
- Disturbances cover bias, noise, missing data, timing faults, and spikes.
- Hybrid direct estimation is most accurate at baseline; hybrid ECM is most robust.
- Results support decision-oriented estimator selection for embedded BMS design.